The Committee Report

THE BELOVED PASTOR NOT GUILTY. changed. A Rough and Boisterous Assemblage.

EASTERN.

Delaware Democrats. WILMINGTON (Del.), August 28.— The Democratic State Convention met at Middletown yesterday and nominated John P. Cochran for Governor, and Jas. Williams for Congress. The resolutions are vigorous in denouncing the Administration and Civil Rights Bill; they concur in the course of Representative Loft and extol the Democratic policy of the State.

Must Not Visit the Black Hills. CHICAGO, August 58.—Gen. Sheridan has issued an order to Brigadier-General Terry, at St. Paul, saying that official information has reached his headquarters of the organization of parties at Sioux City, Yankton and Bismarck to invade the Sioux Indian Reservation, with a view of visiting matter. the country known as the Black Hills. "Should such information be correct, you will please notify such parties that they will not be permitted to go unless under authority from the Secretary of the Interior or Congress. The Committe Report-Beecher Not night. It was read in the presence of Yolo counties. over 3,000 people. It was signed by each of the committee and received with great enthusiasm. It fully acof Beecher's name.

After reading the report, it was adopted with a nnanimous shout, and a scene of the greatest enthusiasm followed. Moulton was present, and during a speech by Mr. Raymond, who was called on, and who spoke of Moulton as having tried to poison the minds of men against Beecher, the "mutual friend" rose to his feet and shouted excitedly, "You are a liar, sir." Great excitement followed, and there were loud cries of "Put him out!"
Put him out!" "For shame!" Moulton rese to his feet and shouted, "I dare any of you to put me out!"

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the evidence before the Examining Committee not only does not afford any foundation for putting the pastor of this Church—H. W. Beecher—upon trial; but, on the contrary, establishes to the perfect satisfaction of this Church, his entire and absolute innocence and personal purity with respect to all charges now or hereafter made by Theodore Tilton.

Resolved, That our confidance in and love for our pastor, far from being diminished, are heightened and deepened by the unmerited sufferings which he has so long borne, and that we welcome him with a sympathy more than tender and a trust more unbounded than we ever felt before, to his public labors among us; to our Church, our families, our homes and our hearts.

At the close of the meeting a doxology was sung, and the people began to disperse. Moulton, who occupied a seat at the reporter's table, was hustled considerably on the way out, and there were indications that, had he not been protected by the police, violence would have been offered him. Upon reaching the door he was hurried to a carriage, and with a policeman on each side of the seat was driven rapidly away and the people dispersed.

SUNDAY ......AUGUST 30, 1874

THE people of San Francisco are quarreling over wood and stone pavements. The people of Los Angeles would delight in an opportunity to quarrel over any kind of pavement.

On Wednesday next we shall elect a Supervisor for District No. 1. There seems to be but one candidate Mr. GABRIEL ALLEN, in the field, and as he is an excellent man and one of our first citizens, he will most likely be elected.

ARIZONA is running four candidates for Delegate to Congress, but not one of the party is the nominee of the Democrats or Republicans. In that Territory aspirants for office are not impressed with the power of party or the importance of party nomination.

THE Pennsylvania Republicans, in State Convention assembled, almost unanimously voted down a resolution endorsing GRANT for a third term. When the fact was reported to the President, he smiled a sad but confident smile, which implied that he would find means to reconcile his rebellious children.

yesterday for the Panamint Mines. He is largely interested in the celebrated "Wonder" mine, on which a yields ore richer than the old Comstock. Mr. CALDWELL is an old miner and as he knows a mine when he sees it we may expect some valuable information from Panamint on his return, which will be in about three weeks.

Wines.

Genuine port wine is astringent and a little rough, because of the husks with which it is colored. The husk is, however, capable of communicating very little color; when the red is deep it is artificial. A deep red color is never desirable. Brandied port wines are always of an inferior quality. Shipess are sometimes forced to mix them with brandy to prevent them from spoiling on the voyage, but this always destroys the excellent flavor they possess. Solomon says, "look not upon the wine when it moveth itself in the cup." "His head was any wine is sufficiently matured to be a healthy beverage under four years old. Our citizens have materially damaged the reputation of California wines by pushing them into market too early.

Platinum.

Platinum received its name in Peru, and is so called because it resemof tining. Its high value prevents its common use, it is not so valuable as steel takes a fine polish, and will not tarnish, and therefore well adapted for quantities in Siberia.

A Way to Procure Water.

Every day the water question grows in magnitude and importance, and every day affords evidence that we are gradually approaching a solution of that with water the Los Angeles valley is the most productive spot in the world, and that without water we cannot couut on regular crops. Day by day our people are acquiring information to the effect that the water is here now, near at hand and easily reached, and the only point to study is how to raise and utilize the indispensible ar- ers that grew and smelt so sweet unticle. Within the city limits, a sys- der my pedagogical care, was my detematic saving and using of the water owned by the corporation is neither understood nor practiced. More water understood nor practiced. More water with gladness at the good, that in the city limits, and can be reached by an easy road. Apply to P. BEAUDRY, P. BEAUDRY, P. BEAUDRY, Owned Block B than is consumed in irrigation. Ditches are expensive and destructive. By-and-bye we shall lay down pipes and build vast reservoirs, by which much loss will be prevented, personal difficulties avoided, and water secured for the irrigation of a broader area but clean, who had not been at school than is now accommodated. In the country, the farmers are finding and to his name. When the "roll calling" saving water. Artesian wells are the favorite, but they are not found in every locality. In many places where the water is near the surface, wind and horse power suffice to raise the requisite amount; in some instances the steam engine is brought into use, but so far another little boy came to me and as we have been able to learn, the as we have been able to learn, the Wilcox Lifter has proven the most efficient and at the same time the cheapest to operate that has yet been introduced in this valley. Some three months ago, the HERALD three months ago, three mo three months ago, the Herald published an editorial explaining the power and availability of the Wilcox machine. There were then but one or two of these lifters in Los Angeles county. There are now twelve or the county the there is a county the land, laid him gently across my knees, and warmed his little pantaloons till the tears trickled down his dirty little cheeks.

This is some of the good I've done, and more anon perhaps may come to my recollection.

fourteen. In each instance where one is used, the most perfect satisfaction is given. We do not care to advertise an article gratis, but our conviction that these machines are the most available water raisers, and will in time come into general use, impels us to call the attention of the HERALD's readers to them. They are simple in construction, and consist of only a boiler and the requisite amount of pipe. There is no engine, and a boy can run the machine without risk or danger. Mr. WEID, who has been operating one of the lifters for some months, says the cost for fuel, when lifting twelve thousand gallons of died at that place on Saturday last, of water per hour, does not exceed fifty a fever which has been quite prevalent cents per day. The inventor of these lifters, Mr. WILCOX, resides in San Francisco, and will visit thir city in a few weeks, when he will take pleasure in giving information relative to the lifter. Mr. W. T. CLAPP, the local agent for the county, may be reached through the Postoffice of this city.

A Pleasing Verdict.

We are rather pleased with the verdict of the Church Committee in the case of BEECHER. It is an ingenious document, and encourages the belief that the human intellect is growing more acutely cunning, more incomprehensibly subtle, and more unfathomably analytical, as the sciences are unfolded and intelligence expands. There was a time when a committee of simple-minded, Bible-reading MR. W. B. CALDWELL left this city churchmen would have found the masses of evidence, conflicting and afflicting, which the case of HENRY and ELIZABETH poured around and over mill is now being erected and which the wise men of Plymouth Church, a little puzzling to the understanding and something harassing to the conscience, but that period closed with the witch burnings and learned sermons of Cotton Mather, and we are now fairly launched in an era when men and women, judges and jurors, sect and secular, all persuade themselves to believe that which they wish despite and in defiance of proof to the Hallett & Davis, Boston, Vose. contrary. If we so elect, the worst case, the darkest suspicion, the strongest evidence, the most damaging appearances, are subjected to the intellectual scalpel, and behold, the aspect changes; the ugly features are dextrously cut away: seemingly fatal wounds are suddenly healed, and sin and crime are washed away in a flood of ink and eloquence. What a wonderful being is man, and how convincingly he reasons in the way he wishes to go. If we progress intellectually as rapidly as we are now moving for a level." Fermenting wine has always been a sickening dose. We doubt if lieve just what we desire to believe, despite what others may choose to believe. A Leaf from the Diary of an Old School Teacher.

I am an old man now, and the recollections of the school-room, which as a careful cultivator of the little flowpast I've done. One of these gratifying reminiscences is this:

The old school clock had struck the matin hour of nine. The children were gathering to their daily tasks of books. Five minutes after the roll was being called, a little ragged was done, I summoned the little boy to my desk, as was the custom of the school, and asked him why from school he had been away so many days. The little fellow was a sentimental one, and with feeling said:
"My mamma was sick, my brother was sick, and I was very busy." Then said: "Mister, that boy's mamma

BY HOOD ALSTON.

Farewell to loves and love-lit ways! Farewell, sweet, golden tropic days! Good bye! I go. Los Angeles I kiss my palms to thee, And bend the suppliant knee. I've gathered here a memory That I shall wed, nor be betrayed-A memory that will never fade.

Sun-land! Song-land! Sweet city, mine-Where the peach and pepperwood, palm and

Are bound together by the trailing vine-I throw you a kiss! Let it be a sign, That I love your walks and I love your wine-Your honest men and maidens fine-Your moon-lit nights and your sun-lit days-And shall keep on loving always-always. Having kissed my love by the open door, I go-as others have gone before-Gazing on orange fields far-famed, Praising the city that the angels named.

I go; but not as the wind that kisses The cheek of the fair for a far-off shore, That steals in a moment a thousand blisses And whistles away to return no more. Nor yet as the stream, that seems to sigh

"Farewell forever," in rushing by. I go as the ship sails out to sea-With her prow to the sun, and her keel may Over-laden-with love and a memory-To tumble and toss on the turbulent main For a season or so, and return again.

That's all! 'Tis enough, What more can I say: Unless I the rest of the love tale tell-How we've walked by night and talked dav-

On the Road-Disappointment-Good Advice to Girls-More Oceanic Rhapsodism-Walks and Talks.

EDITOR HERALD:—Last Saturday afternoon about three o'clock found us in that "dainty ambulance" on the road to Santa Monica. We hurried impatiently forward over the first nine miles, when, you can just imagine our chagrin and disappointment; we were compelled to acknowledge the fact that "Lou Louis" and the "burros" had failed to keep their promised appointment.

Sunday evening we spent on the beach; too tired to walk and with nothing to do, but the old ocean's ceaseless music to charm us into perfect to Tental Holm giving that threatened description on account of the agonizing entreaty of the literary occupant.

forget; so we turned in that humane philanthropic state of mind, which even Mr. Pickwick might have envied us, and whispered to those "two good girls."

There's no belief in man, Not even in a brother; So girls if you must love Love one another."

We reached Santa Monica in safety about sun-down and found the Double Cliff house cleaned out as nice as possible, and all ready for our reception, thanks to "Lou," who was the first to greet us, and assisted not a little in that mysterious "screaming."

SANTA MONICA has grown since we left; we were made aware of the fact by finding a tent placed directly in front of the Double Cliff House. We are strongly inclined to think that if "Zoe and her two companions" had remained here, the visable, to have pitched their tent on the opposite side of Main Street, or up Lovers' Lane. Saturday evening we spent on the beach. Only those who have seen the ocean by moonlight, can realize the surpassing beauty of the scene spread out before us. It is one of which we should never tire. Our long walk on the beach showed us many a pretty picture of the rough, rugged cliffs, softened and subdued by the silvery rays. It must have been nigh unto the "wee sma" hours when we turned and our steps up the arroyo in search of light was out, and we were the only ramblers abroad.

Sunday morning we were up long before old King Sol came creeping over the hills, and after a hearty breakfast and a quarrel between the "two good girls" as to who should wash the dishes, we started for the beech, before the majority of our fel-low campers were out of bed.

At about ten o'clock the Sunday visitors began to arrive, and before eleven o'clock everybody was on the beach, to watch the bathers. The buoy that was anchored here this Summer, is nowhere visible, and the rope drifts around in anything but a

IT IS CHARACTERISTIC Of Santa Monica pleasure-seekers to Hotel. Two grains were previously form in groups: and we have often extracted, and the five had remained form in groups; and we have often wondered what social or scientific question they were discussing with so much avidity; so with a perfectly nonchalent air we joined (by invitation) one of the most loquacious groups. We were fully prepared to be mentally instructed and entertained, so we listened | to publish, as the writer has not given in silence and speculated upon the strong magnetic influence of those assembly at their feet. We listened pecially when charges are made patiently for more than an hour for one sentence that was worth remembering, and finally gave up in despair, knowing that our tortured nerves could bear no more. We hurried up day for San Francisco, and subsethe arroyo, feeling satisfied that there was but one thing worse than the group we had left on the beach: that and clothing. The present stock in is a party of gossiping women, whose the Bazaar will be closed out meanis a party of gossiping women, whose charitable mission it is to soil all who while, to make room for the new have the decision to differ with them, or refuse to walk in the path of bigotry they have marked out. felt while wandering through the region of nature, which is the region of God's wonders." We had no idea that that intolerable headache which drove us from the crowd, would carry us through such a scene of beauty. At our feet the little streamlet riffled on; over our heads the scyamore trees formed a canopy of green, through which the birds, those sweet-voiced choristers of the wild-wood, sent up their evening hymn.

OUR ATTENTION Was often attracted by one of the most diminutive species of the feathered kingdom we had ever seen. It was a little brown bird, scarcely, if any, larger than the common hummingbird. The wild roses were in blossom all around us, and one of the most beautiful flowers we have seen in Southern California is a vine whose blossoms closely resemble the orange bloom. We gathered a bouquet of these beautiful and fragrant flowers to carry home as a memento of our pleasant walk. It was almost dark when we returned to the Double Cliff House, expecting a warm reception in the shape of a cup of tea, which we expected those "good girls" to make, when we were met with a very cool one, a cold stove, and the information that they were both off riding with our friend "Lou Louis."

We came very near forgetting the musicians who honored Santa Monica with their sweetest notes. Perhaps it was the great grief they felt at being compelled to leave the sea-beat shore that caused their faltering step to vary so much as they crossed over Main street in the direction of the Mohongo Hotel; it might have been grief, or it might have been-Hillside Villa is in rather a dilapidated condition. We have our suspicions that we have not been kept thoroughly posted as to all that has occurred in that "COTTAGE BY THE SEA." We are compelled to refrain from glasses—oh, no! we beg pardon—we mean a young man with green eye-glasses. We understood that he brought them down for the use of his horse, intending to make that poor animal believe he was eating green grass instead of hay. We should think the young man intended to be very humane, if we did not pity the poor caballo whose endless work was never done. One of our young friends entertained us with some vocal music. among wnich were a few very pretty Spanish songs; one, in particular, which spoke of "las señoritas de la Santa Monica."

Fine Workmanship.

We saw vesterday at the carriage manufactory of Page & Gravel, on Los tages of strength, lightness and elegance. The iron-work was manufactured entirely by hand from steel and nail-rod. The top was covered by the finest of leather, and the trimming and covering of the seat of light drab cassimere, making a most pleasant and tasty contrast. The back of the seat—the real novelty of the vehicle -was composed of very flexibie steel springs with proper coverings and paddings, thus securing the greatest ease and comfort to the occupant. We understand that the patent spring back belongs exclusively to this firm. The work is all done "upon honor," much after the fashion of the "one-hoss shay," which might wear out, but would never break down The cost of the buggy was five hundred and fifty dollars.

Prof. A. H. Havell announces this morning the opening of his new piano forte ware-rooms in Anderson's building, Main street, opposite the new Catholic church. He will keep constantly on hand a full line of pianos and organs of the best manufactures, guarantees every instrument sold. Pianos and organs will be tuned "tired Nature's sweet restorer;" every | regulated and repaired; also instruction given in vocal and instrumental music. The effort made to establish a permanent literary society last Friday evening was not so successful as anticipated. The failure is not attributa-ble to those who anticipated the or-ganization however, but rather to a misunderstanding which arose among the members of the former society. It is now proposed to start a new club entirely independent of the old one, and we trust that the idea may be successfully carried out.

Dr. Jones yesterday extracted three grains of oats from the ear of a young man who is stopping at the Lafayette in their curious lodgment over five years. We also understand that the young man had hay-seed in his hair and a corn-cob in his pocket. He is a
